

Danny Mace (M.Ost), DCM clinics Practice Manager and Owner

Danny qualified with a masters degree in Osteopathy from the European School of Osteopathy, he specialise in Lower Back Pain, Sports Injuries and Shoulder complaints. He is registered with the General Osteopathic Council and the Institute of Osteopathy.

Alongside practising osteopathy in a clinic setting, Danny also works with the next generation of osteopaths as a respected Clinic Tutor at the European School of Osteopathy. He is also the head of the sports injury and rehabilitation programme at the university, with educating fast becoming a passion of his.

Not only teaching at the European School of Osteopathy Danny Mace is now teaching around the globe for OMT Training. Teaching Osteopathic & Chiropractic Spinal Manipulation which includes the theories and history behind the techniques, safety implications & practical techniques. Danny has lectured in Rome, Hong Kong, Bucharest, Zurich & many more. Danny finds teaching extremely rewarding work and compliments the work he does in the clinic being able to verbalise and communicate effectively with patients.

Danny is also heavily involved in the world of Jet Ski Racing as a professional athlete. He has been British Champion three times and ranked in the world top 10 in 2017. It was this area of his life that led him to osteopathy, he wanted to understand how to best holistically care for his own body as he puts it through the rigours of training and racing on a professional level. The overriding benefit of training both mind and body to be able to compete at that level has put him in great standing to treat and support athletes in a number of disciplines and use the osteopathic practice in the sporting world.
